

California's School-Based Behavioral Health Infrastructure Starts Here

Santa Clara County
Office of Education

SCCOE and Impacter Pathway are building the statewide model for behavioral health performance management in K-12 schools.

CAPTURE
STUDENT VOICE

CONVERT TO MEASURABLE DATA

PLAN MULTI-TIER INTERVENTION

Starting with 6 LEAs and 18 school sites, participating districts receive funding, platform access, professional development, coaching, and technical support.

Impacter Pathway turns open-ended student responses into actionable signals, helping school teams identify early indicators of wellbeing and strengthen tiered support through MTSS processes.

First cohort begins
Fall 2026
across Santa Clara County schools

District leaders get real-time insight and LCAP/SPSA-aligned data on student competencies like Emotional Resilience, Relational Awareness, Conflict Resolution, Reflective Growth, Self-Insight, and Effective Help-Seeking.
